

Two Maritime Unions Brand U.S. Workers As Strike-Breakers

New York, June 7 (AP) — Two AFL maritime unions laid plans today for a nation-wide shipping strike and telegraphed President Truman that government personnel would be treated as strike breakers if they attempted to man union vessels in case of a walkout.

The union stand was taken here after 5,000 members of the Seafarers' International Union and the Sailors' Union of the Pacific authorized an immediate strike vote during a three hour meeting held simultaneously with those in 30 other ports on the Atlantic, Pacific and Gulf ports.

Hold Strike Sessions

Washington, June 7 (AP) — Top men of the CIO's potent national maritime union headed into a council of war today.

As AFL seamen filtered back to their ships still talking of expanding their sample tie-up into a full-dress walkout, members of the NMU's national council from 40 ports convened for a strike strategy session here.

They possess a $1,000,000 strike chest, the support of six other unions allied in the committee for maritime unity (CMU) — and the signs were ominous.

Nearly 48 hours had passed since the last word of progress from the conciliation conference on which the government is pinning its hopes to stave off CMU's scheduled strike eight days hence.

It began to look like deadlock.

And reminders of the bitter, sometimes violent rivalry between CIO and AFL for control of the waterfronts surged up in the wake of AFL's stop-work meetings in 30 cities yesterday.

Conduct Strike Poll

In New York members of the AFL Seafarers' International union and its chief affiliate, the Sailors' union of the Pacific, voted to conduct a strike poll at once. They denounced the CIO-dominated CMU as "Communist-dominated."

In most cities the men returned to work, but in San Francisco, Los Angeles and Seattle, for instance, they decided to hold daily meetings and accompanying work stoppages until employers open wage talks.

At the AFL seamen's headquarters in San Francisco, President Harry Lundberg said his men, "hot to strike," want immediate negotiations with their employers. The em-

BULLETINS

Rome, June 7 (AP) — Club-swinging police broke up a monarchist demonstration in downtown Rome today as post-plebiscite tension which caused bloodshed in Naples last night spread to the capital. About 200 demonstrators paraded through the crowded streets shouting "Long Live the King" and "Down With the Republic."

Fist-fights with Republican sympathizers broke out before the police intervened.

Nanking, June 7 (AP) — Guns of China's warring factions were ordered silenced at noon today for 15 days of last-chance peace negotiations, delaying the prospects for an all-out battle in Manchuria which had threatened to break out at any moment.

New York, June 7 (AP) — John L. Lewis' AFL United Mine Workers and anthracite operators met again today to resume the writing of a new contract which would end the week-old strike of 75,000 Pennsylvania hard coal miners.

Philadelphia, June 7 (AP) — The Philadelphia Record said today that Joseph N. Pew, Jr., and Republican State Chairman M. Harvey Taylor "tangled in a bitter political" con-

95 CASES OF CANCER CURED AT HOSPITAL

Ninety-five cases of cancer have been cured at the Warner hospital during the past 14 years, according to a study completed by Dr. Bruce N. Wolff, chief surgeon there, of the results of therapeutic use of radium at the hospital since January 25, 1932.

Of 147 cancer patients treated from January, 1932, until the present time, 95 were cured, 31 died. In 19 cases Doctor Wolff was unable to obtain adequate information from the one-time patients who have apparently moved away from this area and two cases were reported definitely improved.

The radium is not only used for cancer, but for various other diseases and of 136 benign cases 108 were found to be cured as of May 1, none died, concerning 26 there was not sufficient information to determine how effective the treatment was and two were improved, according to Doctor Wolff's study.

Two Results Evident

Treatment in many similar cases will be done much more efficiently in the future when the deep therapy department at the hospital is completed, Doctor Wolff pointed out. At present plans are underway for a new deep therapy section, and funds are being sought for the annex in which the department will be placed. When it is completed deep x-ray and radium treatment can be combined to treat a wider area.

Two results are evident from the study, Doctor Wolff said: (1) That cancer, when treated soon enough, can be cured without difficulty and, (2) that many times it can be cured even after it has advanced to a rather large extent.

"Those listed as cured are of course persons who still appear cured after ten years, or five years or two years, depending on how long it has been since the treatment was given. However in those listed as cured the cure seems to be absolute up to the present time," Doctor Wolff said.

Many Other Radium Uses

"Patients who are told radium should be used for the most part immediately think of cancer, but there are many non-cancerous growths treated by radium. We treated 39 cases of fibroid uterus, 24 hemangioma, 16 hypertrophic endometritis, 14 cases in which there was hypertrophic endometritis and fibroid uterus, ten cases of functional uterine hemorrhage and nine cases of chronic endocervicitis among other benign cases.

The therapeutic uses of radium are many, Doctor Wolff pointed out. The radium used comes from pitchblende, from which uranium, the material used in the atomic bomb is secured. Radium is much more scarce than the uranium with one part of radium secured for every 3,400,000 parts of uranium. Used in the radium needles and plaques at the Warner hospital is radium bromide, which gives off alpha, beta and gamma rays, with the latter doing the work. The gamma rays travel at 186,000 miles per second and penetrate from six to eight inches of soft tissue. It takes a 5 1/2 inch thickness of lead to almost completely absorb the rays.

Memorial Purchase

The radium now at the hospital includes five 10-mgm. needles purchased in 1931 as a memorial to Dr. C. L. Myers. From a sum of money placed as an endowment fund by Mrs. C. L. Myers, the hospital has since been able to secure one 10-mgm. needle and a five-mgm. plaque.

Among the malignant cases treated by radium at the hospital since 1932 are cancer of the cervix uteri, 33; face, 24; fundus uteri, 17; nose, 14; rectum, seven; lip, seven; breast, six; orbit, six; neck, five; hand, five; ear, four; vulva, three; scalp, three; bladder, two; finger, two, and kidney, thyroid gland, tonsil, groin, face and neck, abdomen, shoulder, forearm, axilla, one case each.

WARNS AGAINST SUBSTITUTES IN "CURING" HAY

"Proper curing, always an important factor in hay-making, has no satisfactory substitute in so-called preservatives, some of which have no value whatever," County Agent M. T. Hartman declared today, in issuing a warning to Adams county farmers against use of valueless or destructive curing substitutes.

He cautioned farmers against using one such preparation of soda and ground limestone, for which, he said, claims had been made to the effect that a few pounds per ton of hay as it is stored will prevent all heating, molding and damage to hay and grain put away with relatively high moisture content.

Tests at two agricultural experiment stations showed, he said, "absolutely no benefit from the use of this material. Dependence on such things to preserve tough hay is a very dangerous business and may lead to loss of both hay and barn," he warned.

Salt Not Preservative

He said that salt, 20 pounds per ton of hay, make the hay come out damp and palatable, but he warned that salt should not be expected to preserve hay too tough for storage.

"After the hay has dried for a day in the swath it will cure just as fast and much more evenly in small windrows," Mr. Hartman explained. "If left in the swath too long, the leaves become too dry and shatter. Exposure to dew or rain reduces the value of the hay.

"When raked up, the amount exposed to such damage is greatly reduced," he continued. "It is an excellent rule to rake before night."

NEW MEMBERS ADDED BY BAND

Two new members were accepted by the Blue and Gray band Thursday evening at its regular practice session in the engine house. The new men are Linn Kepner, Fairfield, and John McCarvey, Gettysburg.

Donations to the band so far total $3,174.53. William I. Shields, chairman of the executive committee, told the group. The goal of the band is $5,500.

Contributors announced Thursday evening include Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Dougherty, Gettysburg; H. L. Harbaugh, Fairfield; Frank Moore, Fairfield; Edgar Bollinger, Gettysburg; and H. T. Stauffer, Gettysburg. The gift was the third so far from Mr. Stauffer.

Uniforms for the band will be ready in time for the Flag Day celebration, according to word received from the company making the outfits by band officials. Forty-nine members attended the rehearsal.

All band members were asked to meet at the Fire engine house Sunday at 2 p. m. to take part in Spanish American War Veterans parade. The members were asked to wear white shirts and dark trousers for the parade.

ONE COUNTIAN INDUCTED FOR ARMED FORCES

Adams county's draft board machinery ground, almost to a stop this month with only one countian sent for induction into the armed forces.

With new laws passed by congress forbidding the induction of 18 and 19 year olds and leaving open for induction only the 20 to 25 age groups both county draft boards found the number of eligible draftees extremely low.

The New Oxford draft board was the only one to fill a call, sending Robert Andrew Keller, Gettysburg R. 4, 22 year old former farmer to represent the county for June.

Gettysburg's draft board was unable to find any eligibles in the age group from which inductions are permitted and receive word from the state selective service board that no quota would be assigned it because of its lack of candidates for induction.

Some Volunteers

The number was one of the lowest assigned for induction since the draft boards were established six years ago. On the first draft call only one man was accepted out of three sent for induction.

While inductions practically ceased examination of prospective draftees continued this month, although officials here were at certain that any of the group would be called next month. Most of the men taking their physical examinations were farmers, it was pointed out.

The county however continued to send men to service, with a number of volunteers reported among the high school graduates who plan to take their "hitch" in the armed forces now rather than wait two years and be called in the midst of their college training or be taken away from employment. No list was available today of the group who enlisted within the past few days although local draft boards expect to receive word within a week or ten days concerning the acceptance of the volunteers.

Masons To Attend Service On Sunday

Report Progress On Plans For Welcome Home Fete For Veterans Here August 14

Progress being made on plans for the Welcome Home celebration for Adams county veterans of World War II, to be held here on the first anniversary of V-J Day, Wednesday, August 14, was reported at a meeting Thursday evening in the court house of the general committee on arrangements. Judge W. C. Sheely, general chairman, presided.

The celebration—which will honor the veterans, living and dead, and extend an official "welcome home" for those who returned—will include morning thanksgiving and memorial services in all of the county churches, an early afternoon parade in Gettysburg, followed by brief but appropriate exercises that will conclude with a memorial service; afternoon entertainment, a supper for the veterans and their families; band concerts, a veterans' ball from 8 to 12 o'clock with an hour's display of fireworks beginning at 9:30 p. m., topping off the day's program.

Seek $12,000

A committee headed by Edmund W. Thomas has begun raising a fund of $12,000 to finance the celebration. Largest item on the expense budget is the supper for the veterans for which 2,000 pounds of beef will be provided for sandwiches. Other supplies will be secured in similar proportions.

Mr. Thomas's sub-committee is appealing to manufacturers, mercantile and professional establishments and to clubs and organizations throughout the county to contribute to the Welcome Home celebration fund as a tribute to the men and women of their respective organizations who served in the armed forces in World War II.

The parade will form early in the afternoon, now tentatively set for 1:30 o'clock, on Springs avenue at Meade school, move up Chambersburg street to center square, out Carlisle street to Lincoln avenue and west on Lincoln avenue to the Gettysburg college Memorial stadium where the afternoon's exercises will be held and where the remainder of the program for the day will center.

The afternoon's entertainment program will be on the campus and the veterans' supper will be served on college land, probably in the field between the Carlisle and Mummaburg roads.

Concerts and Dance

The band concerts in the evening will be on college grounds and a ball in the evening will be in the Eddie Plank Memorial gymnasium. Richard S. Codori, dance committee chairman, announced plans for a full evening of dancing with two "name" bands which will afford continuous music without intermission from 8 p. m. until midnight. Names of the bands will be announced as soon as the contracts are signed, Mr. Codori said.

The committee is arranging to serve punch and the gym will be decorated for the occasion.

LeRoy H. Winebrenner, chairman of the parade committee, plans a "patriotic" parade that will include a number of bands and drum corps, military floats, and sections made up of various county organizations who are expected to turn out for the public welcome for the ex-servicemen and women.

General Invitation

The committee is issuing an invitation to all community, patriotic, civic, fraternal and business organizations in the county to take part in the parade, either by entering floats, by having the membership appear in the line of march or to participate in any way they wish.

Details of the timetable for the events of the day will be worked out at a later meeting of the committee — possibly at the next meeting on July 9.

The Rev. Nevin Frantz, Arendtsville, county ministerium president, sent word to the meeting that the Protestant churches of the county will cooperate fully in the day's program with all the churches to be open for worshippers. Judge Sheely said he has similar reports from the Catholic churches of the county.

Glenn L. Bream, chairman of the committee on afternoon entertainment, said he could not yet make a final report but that every effort is being made to have an outstanding sports event as the feature attraction — with first choice going to several top professional baseball teams. The sports event will follow the Welcome Home ceremony and memorial service on Memorial Field.

Members of A. W. Shott's committee on the supper submitted a report on preparations being made to provide an evening meal for the several thousand veterans and their families. Special subcommittees on stands, lights, transportation, equipment have been named and are at work, the report showed.

Eight stands will be set up to dispense the food with each equipped to serve 1,000 persons. Sandwiches, potato chips, lemonade, coffee, and pickles are included on the menu.

General arrangements were made for the publication of official programs which will show, in addition to the schedule of events, a statistical summary of Adams county's role in World War II.

H. Earl Pitzer, chairman of the committee arranging for the fireworks display that will climax the day's events was directed to se-

Hartlaub, Straban township, who claimed the men drove their automobile into his yard.

CLAIMS KEY TO EUROPE'S PEACE HELD BY RUSSIA

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Britain's two-fisted foreign secretary, Ernest Bevin, stated the case of western democracy versus totalitarian communism with succinct bluntness in his speech on foreign policy in the house of commons Tuesday, and the meat of it was a point which many statesmen have been hesitating to make publicly for fear of giving offense to Moscow.

Bevin declared that permanent peace in Europe could be guaranteed "only if Russia enters freely into the European settlement." But, he added, there runs all through Russian speeches and writings the "idea that the Russian methods alone represent democracy and that certain other systems are either fascist or crypto-fascist." Then a bit later he nailed it down like this:

Russian diplomats, he said, appeared to believe that "the security of Russia can only be maintained when every country in the world adopts the Soviet system. This is one of their greatest handicaps and a great obstacle to peace."

Well, now, not only do Soviet diplomats appear to hold this belief, but foreign observers long have recognized that all signs indicate Moscow fully intends to encircle the globe with communism. The intensive campaign for communication of the world, which Marshal Stalin shelved temporarily when he came to power in 1924, is again in full swing.

It is in this that Bevin sees a danger to world peace. The "idea that the security of Russia can only be maintained when every country in the world adopts the Soviet system" is based on the fact that communism and western democracy are diametrically opposed in their political views. The two things just don't mix. No country would long exist as half western democracy and half communism.

There isn't room enough on our big globe for both these philosophies of life. Nations can agree to disagree politically and still maintain friendly and profitable relations.

By the way, Mr. Bevin's reference to the terms "fascist" is a reminder that a lot of folk don't employ it correctly, as he has done. Through constant use by Moscow, "fascist" has become a generic term for those who oppose communism, and it can be used properly only in that sense. A person who is against western democracy, for example, isn't necessarily a fascist. A distinguished Russian the other day gave a very exact definition thus:

"Fascists are people who with special bitterness hate the Soviet Union."

cure elaborate displays of fireworks. Ordering of the fireworks was left in his hands with Dr. R. D. Wickham, a member of the committee.

Wide selections of aerial shells of every type are available and the committee will make selections that will provide an hour of colorful displays in the skies over Oak Ridge.

Secure Police Aid

Glenn Guise reported that preparations are complete for police assistance in handling the crowds and traffic for the day.

Dr. George R. Miller, chairman of the speakers' committee, told the group of the progress made by his committee. The main speaker is to be a military figure of prominence while the three clergymen to take part in the memorial service will represent the Catholic, Protestant and Jewish faiths.

Dr. Eugene Elgin discussed requirements for health and sanitation provisions. First aid tents will be set up in the town and on the campus.

Radford H. Lipsey, who is in charge of decorations, said he is arranging with a Harrisburg decorator to prepare the speakers' stand in memorial field and the gymnasium for the occasion.

players' spokesmen are in Washington, standing by for the CMU and conciliation conferences.

Lundberg denounced the latter as a "three ring political circus" and said his men would not be bound by any decisions made in Washington.

Issue at Standstill

Some labor department men thought the AFL demonstration walkouts were bids for attention to Lundberg's own demands; one irritated official said privately they might have been meant to "harpoon" the meetings here.

Conciliation meetings have left things right where they were Wednesday, when NMU offered to settle for a 44-hour basic work week instead of the 40-hour week originally demanded, Assistant Secretary of Labor John W. Gibson said he did not believe the time had come for the government to make a proposal of its own.

Only as a "last resort" Gibson added to reporters, will the government elbow the 39 operating companies out of the way and deal directly with the union. The government owns 80 per cent of all ships involved.

DEATH

John B. Trimmer

John Bupp Trimmer, Middlebury, Ind., formerly of the East Berlin area, died last week at his home. He was in his eightieth year. Mr. Trimmer, who resided alone since the death of his wife and the marriage of his two foster children some time ago, was believed to be in fairly good health for his age and neighbors noticed him moving his lawn on the last evening that they saw him alive.

When the elderly man was not seen around his place the next day and his mail remained in the box where the postman had placed it that morning, neighbors recalled that Mr. Trimmer had abandoned his lawnmower in the middle of the plot and gone inside his house not returning to put the implement away. They entered his house and discovered him, fully dressed, seated in a rocking chair. A doctor pronounced him dead as the result of a heart attack.

Mr. Trimmer had been for some time an active member of the Church of the Brethren near his home. He was a frequent visitor with East Berlin relatives, his last visit having been made during the past year.

In addition to his foster children, Mr. Trimmer's survivors include a brother, William Trimmer, and two sisters, residing in York, as well as two other sisters, Mrs. Benjamin Reynolds and Mrs. Levi C. Gentzler, East Berlin, with numerous nephews and nieces.

HOUSE RAISES PENSION RATE

Washington, June 7 (AP)—Further inducement for voluntary enlistment in the regular army was seen today by chairman Augustine B. Kelley (D-Pa.) of the House Invalids Pension committee in a house-passed bill increasing disability pensions for peacetime service.

The bill, by Rep. Lesinski (D-Mich), former chairman of the committee, was passed on Kelley's motion yesterday by unanimous consent.

It narrows the differential between wartime and peacetime service-connected disability pensions from 25 to 10 per cent.

Kelley told a reporter that although "no soldier expects to be disabled" it would be reassuring for enlistees to know their pensions would be adequate.

In his report to the House on the bill, Kelley said an increase in the peacetime disabled veterans' pension to 90 per cent of the rates payable for war incurred disability "will reflect a sincere and serious attempt on the part of Congress to at once preserve the distinction between wartime and peacetime service x x x and accomplish as equitable an approach to parity as any reasonable well-wisher of the veteran would desire," he added.

"No one would gainsay that there remains a definite line of demarcation between the injury incurred in battle and under the stress and trial of combat conditions and the disability sustained in peacetime service x x x" everything cut before noon. A half roll with the side-delivery rake the next day will hasten the final drying. Mow finishers to complete the drying of hay in the barn by blowing air through it makes it possible to put either long or chopped hay in before much of the normal curing losses take place.

Grass Silage

"When properly installed, and used with discretion, mow finishers have done a good job, and seem to warrant well their cost and expense of operation. Grass silage offers a means of getting more grass into the ration with consequent increase in protein and carotene. It also makes it possible to continue harvesting when the weather is not satisfactory for proper and complete curing of hay.

"By wilting hay to the point where juice will not run from the silo, or from a bunch twisted in the hands, it is possible to make excellent grass silage without preservatives. Adding molasses or 150 to 200 pounds of ground grain helps insure the silage keeping and adds to its feeding value. Short chopping with a sharp cutter and enough moisture and good distribution to insure packing in the silo are essential also," Mr. Hartman concluded.

The Acme and State Highway went into a tie for first place in the Community Softball league Thursday evening.

A scrappy VFW team nosed out the Acme 6-5 in the second game played on the high school field after the State Highway blanked the American Legion team 5-0.

A player shortage was in evidence on the college field where the Marketers won their sixth in a row by defeating the Moose 5-1. The Moose started the game with but seven players and finished with eight.

The State Guard played its entire game with seven players and held the West End Aires to a 7-5 decision.

President William McClell has called a special meeting of the league officials for next Tuesday evening at the fire engine house at which time an insurance representative will be present to offer a group insurance plan to teams.

FIRST BASEBALL STRIKE LOOMS

Pittsburgh, June 7 (AP)—Pittsburgh, longtime center of strikes in steel and coal, tonight may become the scene of the first union baseball strike in the nation's history.

The members of the Pittsburgh Pirate team, newly-organized unit of the American Baseball Guild, declare they will not take the field against the New York Giants for their game tonight unless the BUC management consents to an ULRB bargaining election.

Their spokesman, Robert Murphy, labor relations director for the guild, scoffed at assertions by Club President William Benswanger that the game would be played as scheduled.

"The players on the Pirate team are organized almost 95 per cent," Murphy declared. "If they try to play the game, there won't be enough men from the regular Pittsburgh roster to fill an infield."

"I don't know who they may try to bring in from their farm clubs," continued the guild official. "If they try to use the Hollywood team—I heard that one—I can tell you now they won't play. I know those boys. And if they try to bring players from the Albany club—well, we have some members up there, too."

Benswanger did not reveal plans for the game other than to say he was convinced that a strike of the players was not in prospect. The guild last night received assurance of support from a big-sized section of Pittsburgh's labor.

Turnesa In Lead

In Links Upset

Philadelphia, June 7 (AP)—The $15,000 Philadelphia Inquirer Open Golf tournament was a wide open scramble today with Ben Hogan, the recently unbeatable shotmaker, eight strokes off Mike Turnesa's blazing 18-hole pace and no less than 50 pros and amateurs within the same shooting distance of the lead.

Turnesa, stepping to the tee to start the second of four rounds that will carry the tourney through Sunday, held a two-stroke lead on the rest of the pack.

The stocky White Plains, N. Y., pro negotiated Llanerch Country club's narrow fairways and trapped greens in a sparkling 65 yesterday, five under par and only two shots off Byron Nelson's competitive course record of 63. Only Turnesa and eight others of the field of 138 cracked par 70 for the first round over the 6,405-yard course.

ROOKIE ENNIS AGAIN SHINES AS PHILS WIN

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer
Delmer Ennis, Rookie Philadelphia Phillies' outfielder, who was saved from the Minors by the GI Bill of Rights, has risen from virtual obscurity to become one of the most prized chatters in baseball today.

The 20-year-old flycatcher—he reaches his majority tomorrow—whose organized baseball experience is limited to one year with Trenton in the Class C Interstate League in 1943, took the big jump from the navy to the Phillies and made good right from the start.

Reporting in April, Ennis was slated for another year or two in the Minors. The GI Bill, however, provided that no returned serviceman could be sent to the Minors without first being offered to other major league clubs. When Ennis was placed on the waiver block, five clubs immediately put in a bid for him, and Manager Ben Chapman hurriedly withdrew the feelers.

Among Top Hitters

The home-spun Philadelphia youngster who cut his first baseball tooth in one of the local high schools, appeared in his first major league lineup April 30, acquired his first hit in his initial time at bat, and since then has gone through 33 games failing to hit safely in but six of them. He's currently hitting a cool .333 to rank fifth in the league. Among his 41 base hits are 13 doubles and four home runs.

Ennis bashed out four blows yesterday to pace the Phils to a 9-3 triumph over the Cincinnati Reds for the Quakers sixth triumph in their last eight games. Two of his hits were doubles to place him in a tie for the most two-base hits with St. Louis' Stan Musial. He also drove in a pair of runs to help drive Cincy's Joe Mauer off the hill for his initial setback of the year.

The high-flying Brooklyn Dodgers increased their national league lead to four and a half games—their largest of the season—when they outslugged the guild minded Pittsburgh Pirates 13-8 as the St. Louis Cardinals were beaten by the Boston Braves 9-5.

The Boston Red Sox maintained their six and a half game American league advantage over the New York Yankees when they edged out the St. Louis Browns 5-4 on the strength of Ted Williams' 10th homer of the year with one man on.

The New York Yankees made it three in a row over the Chicago White Sox when Red Ruffing, the 42-year-old veteran pitched the Yankees to a 4-0 triumph for his 26th win of his 21 year old big league career.

A pinch hit home run with the bases full by Frank Secory in the 12th inning gave the Chicago Cubs a 10-6 victory over the New York Giants.

Sid Hudson hurled the Washington Senators to a 4-0 shutout win over the Cleveland Indians in an arc-light contest, limiting the Indians to four singles.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

Greenwood Lake, N. J., June 6 (AP)

Three observers at Billy Conn's training session yesterday expressed widely divergent opinions on almost everything they saw—except that Billy looked very sharp. . . . Al Hoesman, taking a day off from his duties as a Joe Louis sparring partner, was the object of most of the questioning. . . . "He looks very good, but he didn't convince me," said Al. . . . Would he say if he had observed any mistakes by Conn or would he make any comparison between the men who will fight for the heavyweight title in two weeks? . . . "I could say a lot, but maybe I'd better not," Hoesman observed.

"Just say Conn is going to look like a million dollars until the time Joe drops that bomb on him." . . . Abe Attell, once a great boxer himself, wasn't impressed by Billy's boxing skill. "He's good, but there's a lot he doesn't do," Abe said. "For instance, he doesn't know anything about feinting. When he feints it doesn't mean anything."

The third observer was Sugar Ray

Robinson, who talked about Louis' apparent lack of condition. . . . "It's something that doesn't come slowly," explained Ray. "Either you have it or you don't. You go along doing everything wrong and then suddenly you find your timing is right and your punches have snap. . . . Joe always was slow getting started in training, but I look for him to come around sometime in the next two weeks."

JUST CONN-FIDENCE

One thing gleaned from visiting Conn's camp is the idea that Billy is ready for a fight any time. . . . "I think I'll be ready in a few days," he said after yesterday's eight-round drill. . . . When the scales showed he weighed 182 pounds, Billy added: "That means I'll come in under 180. It depends on the weather. It's been pretty hot."

ARGENTINA AND RUSSIA RENEW OLD RELATIONS

Buenos Aires, June 7 (AP)—Russia

and Argentina have reestablished diplomatic relations, severed in 1917 after the overthrow of the Czarist regime.

Announcement of the termination of the 29-year-old diplomatic rift between the powers was made here by President Juan D. Peron at his first press conference since taking office last Tuesday.

Simultaneously, the Moscow radio heard in London, said the two governments, "Inspired by the high principles of collaboration and understanding between peoples, declared they have decided to establish from today complete diplomatic, consular and trade relations."

The Moscow broadcast said ambassadors would be exchanged "in the very near future."

"Happy Conclusion"

"The negotiations which have come to such a happy conclusion took place in the city of Buenos Aires between the plenipotentiary of the government of the U.S.S.R., Shevlev, and his excellency the President of the Argentine Republic, Gen. Juan Domingo Peron, and the Minister of Foreign Affairs and Culture, Dr. Juan Atilio Bramuglia," the broadcast added.

The official Soviet press said the diplomatic link between the nations would result in extensive trade. A Russian mission which came here ostensibly to promote commerce was given diplomatic status at Peron's inauguration.

The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia, in preparing the groundwork for the move, said the establishment of relations would be in the interest of peace and security. Izvestia added that the move had gained strong headway since Peron's election.

The members said the vote indicated a "large majority in favor" would be recorded this evening when a ballot is scheduled on a resolution setting forth the league's attitude toward the cabinet mission's proposal for a constituent assembly to draft basic laws for an independent Indian federation.

Mahomed Ali Jinnah, president of the Moslem league, criticized the British proposals sharply yesterday in an address at the opening session

Today's Talk

BING CROSBY

I have never met Bing Crosby, and may never meet him, but he has distributed himself to millions all over the earth. There is an echo of his soul in his singing voice and genuine sincerity in his acting in the movies. Records of his voice are prized by the hundreds of thousands. His friends like him. He is both popular and beloved by those, like myself, who have never come in contact with him.

I understand that Bing is an ideal father with his nest of boys and one woman. This additionally endears him to his admirers. He has earned large sums of money, but is generous with it. But what is the secret of all this fame and success of his? In my humble opinion, one word expresses it all—character!

Bing Crosby has character—and it is evident in his life and in his public career. His influence has been wholesome and inspiring. He has imitators, but no peers. He is a fine American. I would say that Bing Crosby is the singer and actor of the people, for his is a voice to them all. A voice that touches a beautiful chord in every human heart, when heard.

The rare talents of Bing Crosby have not been abused. They have been loaned out to millions as a personal gift. You feel better after listening to a song by him or witnessing his acting in a picture. There is a spiritual satisfaction to both. And you feel enriched in mind and heart afterwards.

There is personal satisfaction in paying this brief tribute to so fine an artist as Bing Crosby. He has converted his fine gifts into an asset for all lovers of beauty in song and expression, and he has made this asset applicable to all the world. Few can openly express their appreciation, but it is housed within themselves, nevertheless.

Influence is a tangible, but it is felt, wherever it radiates, as is the warmth of the rays of the sun, and it is just as universal. It is good to have such people as Bing Crosby in the world, and to have agencies to spread his voice into the furthestmost corners of the earth. Such power has no competition with material gain.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Self-Dismissal"

FISHERMAN'S LUCK

The more and more my fishing luck I turn my mind upon,
The more I find that "yesterday" is when I should have gone.
"Today" they seldom bite for me, but later, to my sorrow,
I hear I should have caught a string by waiting till "tomorrow."

The lake where bass are plentiful is twenty miles away.
Where I've been told the fishing's good, the natives never stay.
They're always going off to fish some secret spot they know,
Where foolish city fishermen have never learned to go.

But when I'm taken to the place where all the big ones hide,
The only thing I ever get is just a tedious ride.
And coming back, the news is told if, where I was, I'd stayed,
The smallest of my limit catch at least three pounds had weighed.

A most unlucky angler, I, without pretense or sham,
Good fishing's always somewhere else and seldom where I am.
"Tomorrow," just as "yesterday," they bite in furious way,
But every time I fishing go it always is "today."

News Items From Littlestown

NEW MINISTER AT REDEEMER'S ASSUMES POST

Rev. Frank E. Reynolds, Bethlehem, Pa., arrived in Littlestown Wednesday evening to assume the pastorate of Redeemer's Evangelical and Reformed church. Rev. Reynolds had preached a trial sermon on May 5, and following this was favorably voted on by the congregation. He accepted the call on May 12. He arrived Wednesday evening in time to attend the regular meeting of Redeemer's Reformed church consistory. He moved his family and belongings Thursday.

Rev. Mr. Reynolds received his grade and high school education in Bethlehem, graduating from high school there in 1933. He was graduated from Ursinus College, Collegeville, in 1937, and from the Eastern Theological Seminary of the Reformed Church, Lancaster, in 1940. His first pastorate was at Rochester, N. Y., where he served from 1940 until he entered the Army in 1942. He served as a Chaplain with the 27th Infantry division, 165th Regiment, which included a group of "Fighting Irish." He spent two of his army years in the Pacific, and took part in the Central Pacific campaigns in the Gilberts and Marianas. He received two decorations while in the service, the Silver Star, and the Military Cross from the British Government.

He was discharged in September, 1945, and since then has taken a refresher course at Yale University divinity school, New Haven, Conn.

Rev. Mr. Reynolds is married and has two children, a son four years old, and a daughter five months old. The new pastor and his family will reside in the former Irvin Null property on East King Street, adjoining the church.

The Redeemer's consistory includes, in addition to the pastor, who is president, Harry L. Cratin, vice president; Wilbur A. Bankert, Dr. Richard M. Phreaner, Edward F. Hawk, Herbert Bankert, and Frank Cragger, elders; Samuel Higinbotham, Stewart Long, Levere Breighner, Melvin Miller, Frank Stonessier, and Stanley Weikert, deacons.

Start Campaign Against Speeding

Speeding and reckless driving within the Borough of Littlestown must stop or offenders will be dealt with, Chief of Police Leon H. Gage declared today. The speed limit in Littlestown is 25 miles an hour, and easily readable signs are erected at all entrances to the town, containing this information. Many persons are apparently driving at much greater speeds, thus endangering lives and property, the officer said. Several complaints have been received from playground officials about fast and reckless driving on Maple avenue, which adjoins the public playground. "The children go home for supper at the same time that the factories close for the day, and it is feared that some of the children may be killed or injured on the way home if this kind of driving is continued. The cooperation of all motorists is asked in observing the legal speed limit within the borough limits," Chief Gage said.

Appreciative Reader

Editor,
THE GETTYSBURG TIMES:
Gettysburg, Pa.

Dear Sir:
Vivid memories of the old home-town were brought back to me when I read the issues of the Littlestown Supplement. I have been away from Littlestown for a number of years, but expect to come back to the old town to live some-day. As it is, I come back quite frequently to Littlestown, where I visit my parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Dern.

I have nothing but praise for the special Littlestown Supplement you publish on Fridays in addition to the daily Littlestown column. It gives a 'big little' town very deserving publicity. I hope to continue enjoying reading it; and I wish to commend highly my former school-mate, and friend, P. Emory Weaver, for the part he is taking in writing the supplement. I enjoyed his History of Littlestown. He, and the other members of your staff, have done a fine job to date, and I will be looking forward to seeing each edition of the Littlestown Supplement.

Very truly yours,
J. Marker Dern,

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS CLUB FORMED

"Alcoholics Anonymous" is a name that is becoming more familiar every day, and it is also known in Littlestown, where there is an active group. The club has regular meetings, and anyone privileged to attend a meeting would almost without exception say that this is the most sincere group of people he has met. The movement is solely for those to whom liquor has become master, and not for the moderate and controlled drinker.

A representative of Alcoholics Anonymous, who is chairman of that ward in the Knickerbocker hospital in New York City, in a recent address to the local club, explained the work of that group as follows:

"Alcoholics Anonymous is a group of people for whom alcohol has become a major problem and who have banded together in a sincere effort to help themselves and other problem drinkers recover their health and maintain sobriety."

"Definitions of alcoholics are many and varied. For brevity we think of an alcoholic as one whose life has become unmanageable to any degree due to the use of alcohol."

No Fees or Dues
"We of Alcoholics Anonymous believe that the alcoholic is suffering from a disease for which no cure has yet been found. We profess no curative powers, but have formulated a plan to arrest alcoholism. Membership requirements demand only a sincere desire on the part of the applicant to maintain total abstinence."

"There are no fees or dues in A.A.; no salaried officers. Monies necessary for operating expenses are secured by voluntary contributions. Alcoholics Anonymous does not perform miracles, believing that such power rests only in God."

"We adhere to no particular creed

St. Aloysius Holds Graduation Today

Graduation exercises of St. Aloysius' parochial school, Littlestown, were held this morning after mass in St. Aloysius' Catholic church. The pupils of the school received Holy Communion in a body during the 7:30 a. m. mass. Rev. John H. Weber, pastor, was in charge of the exercises.

The following were awarded diplomas testifying to their satisfactory completion of the eighth grade: William Kress, Richard Riley, Raymond Smith, Mary Ann Busbey, Marianna Catalano, Nancy Duttera, Anna Mae Kress, Jean Myers, Joan Myers, Ruth Ann Redding, and Mary Rita Riley.

The pupils of the seventh and eighth grades of St. Aloysius school will join other pupils of the southern part of the Harrisburg diocese in a trip to Annapolis, Md., on Monday. The group will leave Hanover at 5:30 a. m. Monday, for Baltimore. From there they will enjoy a three-hour ride to Annapolis, and later return to Baltimore.

or religion. We do believe, however, that an appeal for help to one's own interpretation of a Higher Power or God is indispensable to a satisfactory adjustment to life's problems.

"Alcoholics Anonymous is not a prohibition or temperance movement in any sense of the word. Neither have we any criticism of the controlled drinker. We are concerned only with the alcoholic. From the vast experience of our many members we have learned that successful membership demands total abstinence. Attempts at controlled drinking for the alcoholic inevitably fail."

"We attempt to follow a program of recovery which has for its chief objectives sobriety for ourselves; help for other alcoholics who desire it; amends for past wrongs; humility; honesty; tolerance; and spiritual growth."

"We welcome and appreciate the cooperation of the medical profession, the clergy, business organizations, and the public in general."

FEED SUPPLIER IN LITTLESTOWN ISSUES WARNING

The J. Ray Reinhold warehouse seems stocked with feed and fertilizer and eventually the wheat of the coming season will flow through the establishment but right now Reinhold has to caution his farmer clients that feed and fertilizer are scarce and there probably won't be enough to go around.

So "much as I like to sell both feed and fertilizer" as he puts it, he has to suggest that the producers take "things easy" when it comes to raising livestock that will take feed.

"Of course," he points out, "that will vary with individual farms, some farms raise a lot of feed, and some farmers have larger supplies on hand of both feed and fertilizer. It's almost impossible to give a general rule, but both feed and fertilizer are scarce."

Reinhold was a farmer "all my life" until 1936 when "I came to town and saw that the warehouse was standing idle." Then he bought it from the Bish brothers who had started the warehouse in 1918 and then had closed the establishment in 1934. They also had sold feed and fertilizer.

There was one other occasion when farmer Reinhold took a "vacation" from farming, when he and "Dutch" Spangler went into the U. S. Army together in 1917, taking their training at Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia.

From the "looks of things," Reinhold figures that "things will be worse until after a new harvest" and he cautions farmers to "take good care of pullets and cull out the old hens very hard."

Not only are feeds scarce but the price has gone up along with the scarcity, Reinhold observes. Some of his feeds have advanced up to $35 a ton over the price asked for them back in 1934.

Installation of officers was held at the regular meeting of the Littlestown Aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, last evening. The club voted a donation of twenty-five dollars to the Adams County Crippled Children's Society.

Officers installed were: President, Edgar A. Wisotzky; vice president, Robert Blevins; conductor, Melvin Schlotz secretary, John W. Dut-

The Story Of Andrew Schreiber (Shriver) Early Town Settler

Young Andy had come from the mill with the news.

"A great meeting of everybody in the township is to be held," he informed his parents. "Archibald McClean is coming to speak. It is about the parliament and King George."

"And the taxes," finished Andrew. "And a host of other things," continued young Andy. "The King is trying to have passed laws which will take away much of the freedom of the colonies."

"And a lot of good the meeting will do," Andrew added to his son's excited statements.

Obedience was gained in the youth of the age—up to a point. Young Andy kept still, but he continued with his thoughts. It was exciting, perhaps the most exciting thing in an exciting age, if it went on to what he expected and a little hoped would happen.

Revolutions Perhaps

His father, young Andy thought, would never agree, but he and some of the younger men had talked about it, and it was possible the argument might grow into a revolution and freedom from England and the King. He had been hooted down by the others when he had dared to speak of the thought. But he had long since learned to keep his silence and answer: "perhaps you are right" to his elders and to his younger companions.

He remembered the days when men fought because they were Dutch and others Irish, of hearing from his father the fights with the men who had come to try to survey the land.

His father, young Andy thought, would not approve, but the land was young, England was far, far away. It was difficult for English law to reach into the backwoods. Perhaps . . . but he stopped even his thoughts.

Strangely enough, Andrew decided to accompany his son to the meeting. Young Andy was delighted but curious as to the reasoning behind his father's trip.

They arrived to find the school house packed with men. The Kitzmiller were there and nearly all of Andrew's customers. The jug went round and about from man to man and the meeting seemed assured of success before it was ready to start.

Archibald McClean, patting his wig in place before stepping to the rostrum, turned to the group and asked for silence. Then he started to speak.

"There is little need to explain the purpose of this meeting. We are gathered to protest the infamy of those who on shores so far remote from us still seek to guide our destinies without permitting us the slightest word in that management."

"It is not that we seek to separate ourselves from the mother country, nor that we seek more right which is not granted to all subjects of the crown of England."

Wants Representation

"Through the years there has grown a law which holds that all men have the right to speak, to representation, in matters of the taxation which might affect them. 'Yet we here in the colonies have no such recognition, no such right to be represented in the parliament. All rules and laws and taxes come to us from England, thousands of miles away, across seas, from men whose knowledge of the problems here can be at best but faint. Can we endure such a tyrannous condition? Can we permit our lives and beings to be directed by men who know nothing of our conditions? I say let us rise in protest against this infamy. Let our voice be so heard that England and the crown must give us the right to speak in our own government. We are free men, let us remain so. We seek only justice, and our rights.'"

Seek Self Rule

Man after man they rose, some gaunt, some short and fat, some old men, their faces lined with the fatigue of wrestling a living from the earth. Some young men whose unlined faces showed still the enthusiasm of youth. Gravely they added either but their "aye," or said their piece, simply, as befitted free men.

Most were agreed that the colonies should rule to a large extent themselves.

They remembered the customs that had been placed on goods coming into the colonies and those going out and had felt at first hand the pinch of a few pennies extra on the goods that were bought. There was little enough the shillings they ever saw but there are some things a man must buy even when he is practically independent on his farm and they put their protest as best they knew.

Young Andy sat solidly enough, but inside him was the feeling that out of this would grow things that the men knew not. As sure as he felt the rough edges of the log he felt that here was something that would spread and grow, something that would become bigger and more noble than a gathering to protest a tax, a gathering to seek for Pennsylvania men a better share in their own government.

Andrew Speaks

Now Andrew started to speak, and his son waited anxiously:

"My father came, a poor man to the colony of the Penns. When I was young I learned to make shoes, a trade at which I still from time to time practice. In the city of Philadelphia were many things, and many advantages."

"For everyone, his need. Mine was for peace, for a place where I would be myself, and do as I pleased, for a place where there was no confinement of unjust law."

"Something within me said go—go where you can find great lands for yourself, someplace where you and you alone, with God, can make your own future."

"And go I did, out into the wilderness past Lancaster, to come to this land that is now our home."

"It has been good, this land. No law came with me but the law of God. For many years we have lived here, some thirty years have passed since I came. We grew up making our own decisions as there came a need for them."

Land Is Peaceful

"The Penns sent men into the wilderness to us, to survey the land. They came, and then went. Now the land is more peaceful. No longer do the border battles rage between the lands of Penn and the lands of the Baltimores. Roads have been built, and many houses dot the landscape.

"Yet even now there is but little law here but that of our own making. Perhaps I am wrong, but I feel we go against ourselves to protest too loudly to the throne. Now we are bothered a little, from time to time, by the rules of others. We are far away, still on the frontier. Beyond us is little. We are so far away, and easily forgotten. If we protest too loudly it will but remind the throne that we are here. I vote against the plan to protest."

He sat down amidst applause. But no one changed his vote.

OUTLOOK BLEAK ON FARM LABOR DURING SUMMER

By LEONARD A. UNGER

Harrisburg, June 7 (AP)—The outlook for sufficient manpower to operate Pennsylvania's farms for the summer planting and autumn harvest appears bleak. D. Watson Atkinson, farm labor supervisor of the Pennsylvania State college, indicated today.

Critical shortages of farm hands exist in every section of the state. Atkinson said in pointing out that prisoners of war, so useful during the war years, are no longer available.

More than 4,200 POWs worked on farms and in orchards at the peak of harvesting. Complemented by crews of laborers imported from Jamaica and camps of volunteer boys and girls, this working force became a boom to hard-pressed farmers.

Placements of regular farm laborers in Pennsylvania last year totaled more than 80,000, but state and county agriculture officials hesitated to make a prediction on what percentage of these will be available this year.

"They place their hope with returning servicemen, idle industrial workers and high school boys and girls."

See Drop In Milk Yield

Because more than 1,000 dairy cows a month have been slaughtered recently, the state department of Agriculture predicted milk production in Pennsylvania this year will be far below last year's all-time mark.

Scarcity of feed is the principal reason for increased slaughtering activities, the department said, but, in addition, good cows "are bringing good prices" during the current meat shortage.

Milk production thus far this year has been two to three per cent below the same months last year, it added.

"Due to milk price uncertainties during the war, breeding was curtailed and there are fewer heifers coming along as replacements in established herds," the report asserted, continuing:

"Give the dairy farmer plenty of feed, skilled labor at prices he can afford to pay, milk prices that will guarantee a fair return on his investment, and there will be plenty of milk. Butter will continue short as long as government price restrictions favor other dairy products."

Adopt Standards

The U. S. Department of Agriculture after studying the success of Pennsylvania's systems for the grading of green peas and lima beans for canning and freezing, has adopted them as U. S. standard grades for national use.

State agriculture secretary Miles Horst said these grades "are an out-

Guffey And Myers Supported Measure

Washington, June 7 (AP)—The teen age, pay-raising draft bill which the Senate passed and returned to the House yesterday received the votes of Pennsylvania Senators Joseph F. Guffey and Francis J. Myers, both democrats.

Both senators voted against the Selective Service extension bill proposed by Senator Revercomb (R-W. Va.), which the Senate defeated. Revercomb's bill would have suspended the drafting of men until Congress ordered otherwise.

growth of the widely accepted principle that price should be directly proportional to quality."

"The conscientious grower who adopts modern culture practices and delivers a quality product deserves a premium price because such fruits and vegetables enable a processor to pack a better quality finished product," he added.

Normal U. S. consumption of antimony is about 10,000 tons per year.

BOOST ORLANDO AS NEW ITALIAN "PRESIDENT"

Rome, June 7 (AP)—Grizzled, 86-year-old Vittorio Emanuele Orlando was winning wide mention today as a likely compromise candidate for first president of Italy's new republic as the nation awaited formal proclamation of the end of the monarchy.

Orlando, only survivor of the Big Four of Versailles, was being proposed, political observers said, because as a Sicilian he would be able to repair the schism shown at the polls between the industrial north—which favored the republic—and the south—which supported the House of Savoy.

It appeared likely, however, that Orlando would face powerful opposition from the communists, third strongest party in the week-end elections. Palmiro Togliatti, minister of justice and a communist leader, declared in a final campaign speech that the communists "never" would collaborate with Orlando, whose national Democratic union ran fourth in the balloting.

Secession Talk

Another "venerable old man" of Italian politics, 78-year-old Ivanoe Bonomi, who led two provisional governments during Italy's status as a co-belligerent, also was being suggested as a presidential candidate. His supporters said he was less of a monarchist than Orlando and thus perhaps more suitable to a new regime.

King Umberto II, meanwhile, was already following his father into exile, his brief reign ended under the crushing weight of nearly 13,000,000 votes favoring a Republican form of government.

A dispatch from Naples said there was increasing talk in that city of secession of southern Italy so that it could continue under the monarchy. However, the likelihood of such a step was discounted in the capital.

Lt. Gen. John C. H. Lee, commander of American forces in Italy, called on Umberto at noon. He described the visit as unofficial. Premier De Gasperi also conferred with the king.

Estonia proclaimed its independence from Soviet Russia in 1918.

HIROHITO URGES FOOD FOR JAPAN

Choshi, Japan, June 7 (AP)—Emperor Hirohito trudged through heavy mud along rice paddies today and urged farm workers to help overcome Japan's food crisis.

Traveling to Chiba prefecture, southeast of Tokyo, for another visit among his people, he stopped at the little farming community at Odo to watch planting. Obviously nervous, he talked to men and women in flooded paddies.

To one elderly woman he stressed Japan's food shortage and urged her to work ever harder.

He joined his party in laughter when a cow impeded the way of correspondents on a parallel embankment.

He frequently lifted his brown fedora as lustrous Banais greeted him everywhere. From Odo he came to Choshi, a fishing center, where he inspected several war destroyed schools, the Choshi dockyard and a fishery and soy sauce plant.

School children broke into tears at the sight of the shy, awkward ruler, who seemed to lose some of his nervousness as the day wore on.

LITTLE CHANGE SEEN IN "JIM CROW" LAWS

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, June 7 (AP)—The supreme court has given Jim Crow a slap which will cause some changes, but not great changes, in the treatment of negroes in this country.

The court has ruled that interstate buses—those traveling from one state into another—cannot force negroes to ride in the rear, behind white passengers.

This was aimed at southern states, the only states with Jim Crow laws compelling negroes to ride in the rear of public vehicles.

Invited Victory
The decision was a victory for those who have opposed Jim Crowism, wherever it appeared, but it is a limited victory.

The court ruling applied to nothing except buses which cross state lines. On buses or trolleys which operate entirely within a state negroes still can be compelled to ride behind white people.

Jim Crow, in some cases as a law and in some as a custom, is a rule in the south. For example:

Separate railroad waiting rooms for negroes, separate hospital wards, separate bathing beaches, separate schools. White restaurants refuse to serve negroes; if they get into white theaters at all it is in a section apart.

The north has no Jim Crow laws but it practices Jim Crowism very effectively in many ways in many places, such as by refusing them seats in certain theaters.

But no matter what the form of Jim Crowism, north or south, the supreme court in this decision left the practice untouched except to ban any law compelling negroes to ride behind whites on interstate buses.

Thus the supreme court decision knocks out just a little bit of Jim Crowism. Southern Jim Crow laws are about half a century old. They were passed about the turn of the century.

Webster's dictionary says: "Jim Crow—said to be so-called from a negro song and dance, the refrain of which is 'wheel about and turn about and jump Jim Crow,' popularized about 1835 by T. D. Rice, a famous negro minstrel."

Olmsted Field Is Scene Of Crash

Lieutenant Williams, an instructor-pilot, was standing beside the
